Building a deck?
Planting a tree?
Installing a fence or mailbox?

811 is the number you should call before you begin any project

What is 811?

811 is the phone number you call before digging to protect yourself and others from unintentionally hitting underground utility lines

Do I need to call 811?

Yes! Any type of digging requires a call.

When can I begin my digging project?

Wait for the marks! Utilities will mark their buried lines on your dig site. Most locate crews will arrive to mark your dig site with paint or flags within a few days and will make sure you know where to avoid digging so you don't hit buried utilities.

What's next?

You called before digging, waited for your lines to be marked, and now it's time to roll up your sleeves and get to work! Make sure to always dig carefully around the marks, not on them. Some utility lines may be buried at a shallow depth, and an unintended shovel thrust can bring you right back to square one - facing potentially dangerous and/or costly consequences. Don't forget that erosion or root structure growth may shift the locations of your utility lines, so remember to call again each time you are planning a digging job. Safe digging is no accident!

Meet Lindsey!

Director Of Marketing & Sales

Lindsey began working at AMTA just over a year ago but she started in the telecommunications industry over 20 years ago, stuffing phone bills and working her summers through high school & college as a Customer Service Representative. After college, she completed one year of law school before she went on to work for a telecommunications company that created the world's first 100% Voice-over Internet Protocol (VoIP) network, selling voice, data, mobile and cloud services to businesses. Leaving the Telecom Industry to work as the Marketing Manager for one of the world's largest education providers, she developed strategic marketing campaigns at the University of Minnesota. Drawn back to the Telecom Industry she began working for The Minnesota Telecom Alliance & went on to launch her own business. Lindsey brings a long history of experience in both the telecommunications industry and the marketing and sales world & we are excited to have her on our team at AMTA!

EMPLOYEE SPOTLIGHT

Favorite thing about working at AMTA?
The Employees. They go above and beyond and are always willing to help, whether it's for each other or for the customer. Everyone genuinely cares and it makes working at AMTA enjoyable.

She enjoys bringing new life to old stuff, repurposing furniture and home decor. In her freetime, you will find her remodeling her house and hitting up thrift stores and garage sales for her next DIY project.

Her top TV show right now is Suits and her favorite movie is the 1980s hit Big, starring Tom Hanks.

Her favorite place to travel to & visit is Mackinaw Island, MI.
